San Francisco

(241) A RED-FIGURED PELIKE, 14½ in. high; on the obverse, a young warrior leaving home; the youth wears a short chiton, with a cloak over his left arm, and carries a helmet and a pair of spears; his shield, emblazoned with a wheel, rests on a trestle beside him. A woman stands on either side of him, one holding a phiale, the other a wreath. On the reverse, three youths. Mended. From the same tomb as the last vase, and of the same period

Coureaux

16.
Cambridge
CMA 3 pl. 36, 3

(242) A red-figured Loutrophoros, 19 in. high; on the obverse, a seated lady receiving an object, now lost, from a woman who is moving towards her with a mirror in one hand; behind the seated lady; a woman running with an alabastron. On the reverse, three women, one with a torch, another with an alabastron, the third with a sakkos in her hand. On the neck of the vase, either side, a woman. The scene probably represents the preparations for a wedding. Mended, and part of the lip missing. Attic work of about 450 B.C.

26 (243) A red-figured Pyxis, 4 in. high and 5 in. across; on the side, a griffin, a bull, and a wolf; on the upper side of the lid, a fine pattern of palmettes and lotus flowers. Unbroken. Attic work of the Fourth Century B.C.

Coureaux

Cambridge
11/10
CMA 3 pl. 36, 3

(244) A red-figured Pyxis Lid, 8 in. in diameter. Preparations for a marriage; a woman seated, and Eros kneeling at her feet doing up her sandal; a woman arranging her dress with the aid of a hand-mirror, another taking a dress out of a coffer, another bringing a bridal vase (lebes gamikos); Eros kneeling with a shoe; a woman seated with incense tray at a thurible, another seated on a chest, and a third beside a coffer and a wool-basket. White is freely used for the flesh, and gold for details. The vase is mended, and the flesh-white retouched in one or two figures. Delicate Attic work of the second half of the Fourth Century B.C.

Hope

4 (245) An Oinochoe, 6½ in. high, with the body in the form of a figure of Eros in relief, wearing a Phrygian cap, riding a panther. The background is vermillion, the flesh white, and the hair yellow. The neck of the vase is broken and the handle missing. Attic work of the Fourth Century B.C.

Coureaux

- Courreau* 246 An Oinochoe, $6\frac{1}{2}$ in. high, with the body in the form of a figure of a boy seated in an arbour playing the lyre. The background is light blue, and there are traces of gilding on the hair. Mended and the handle lost. Attic work of the Fourth Century B.C. 4
- art* 247 A BRONZE FIGURE OF A YOUTH, $4\frac{1}{2}$ in. high, with a fillet round his head. Found at Piraeus. An interesting Greek work of the early Sixth Century B.C. 20
- Kalebdjian* 248 The upper part of a Greek bronze Oinochoe with trefoil mouth. The handle ends in a silen's head below and in a beardless head above, but it is doubtful whether the handle originally belonged to the vase 8
- Beasley* 249 A BRONZE STEELYARD, with chain, weight, etc., complete. The bar is $6\frac{1}{2}$ in. long, and two of its sides are burnished with inlaid Greek letters in silver, indicating the weights in tens, with the fives indicated by the letter E; compare the steelyard in the British Museum, Catalogue of Bronzes, No. 2992. The bar terminates in a lion's head, and the weight is in the form of a bust of Athena. The weight is broken at the neck, but the steelyard is otherwise in fine condition and an excellent specimen. Late Greek work 20
- do* 250 THREE STRIPS OF GOLD with beaten ornamentation, from an early Greek grave. The first is in two pieces, but nothing is missing; it measures $12\frac{1}{2}$ in. in length and $1\frac{1}{2}$ in. in height. It is decorated with a frieze in three parts, divided by hatched verticals; first, a procession of four horsemen to right, then an archer with a helmet on his head, drawing his bow, then a procession of four horsemen to left. The second strip, of which four pieces remain, is an inch high, and is decorated with a frieze of animals, red deer, lions, and recumbent goats; the ends of the strip are furnished with string-holes. The third strip, $15\frac{1}{10}$ in., is decorated with a big mæander. Such strips were used for diadems, and also to support the jaw of the corpse. Similar strips have been published by Furtwängler (see his Kleine Schriften) and others. They are very interesting specimens of very early Greek art, the art of the geometric period, and are to be dated in the Eighth Century B.C. 7 3
- Leasing* 251 A GOLD EARRING, consisting of a rope-like wire terminating in a lion's head, with filigree spirals between head and ring; and another, terminating in the head of a leonine griffin with eyes of blue paste. Fine Greek work of about the Third Century B.C. 11 2
- Matson* 252 A small pair of gold Earrings, each in the form of a figure of Eros leaning back with his arms akimbo; also a small gold Earring terminating in the head of a wild goat. Good Greek work of about the Third Century B.C. 3 3

215 253 A GOLD EARRING, in the form of a dove with a garnet set over its head; and another, with a rope-like hoop terminating in a bull's head, and decorated with two small gold reels between a garnet and a plasma bead. Both excellent Greek work of the Greco-Roman period 2

Hall

18 254 A pair of gold Earrings, terminating in animals' heads, somewhat battered; and a thick amber Ring, with the bezel carved into a female head. The earrings are Hellenistic work, the ring belongs to the later Roman period 3

do

5 255 A glass Ring with a flat bezel, into which a piece of gold foil, in the shape of Eros carrying a torch, has been inserted, in the technique which is familiar from the "golden glass" vessels of the Christian period, but which was also known in Hellenistic times. This ring is probably of Greco-Roman date

Fenton

A glass Scaraboid, engraved with figures of a sow and its young; Greek work of the later Fifth, or the Fourth Century B.C.

A blue glass Scaraboid, decomposed and iridescent; and a broken brown paste Scarab. Greek work of the geometric period, about the Eighth Century, engraved with two rude figures of animals. 4 810 256 An eight-sided conoid Seal of banded agate, engraved with a figure of a winged bull. Good Persian work of the Fifth Century B.C.

Helekian

615 257 A TERRA-COTTA FIGURE OF A WOMAN, 5in. high, wrapt in her himation; traces of red on the hair. Broken across the middle and mended. Greek, of "Tanagra" type, about the Third Century B.C.

Austen

144 258 Another, 7in. high, dark red hair, red lips, the base dark grey; intact. Greek, of the same period as the last

Bennett

9 259 A TERRA-COTTA FIGURE OF A SMILING GIRL, 5½in. high, red hair, traces of rose on the clothes. The head broken off and reattached. Greek, of the same period as the last

Other Properties.

- Leaving
 Boston 22 677 (260) A RED-FIGURED CRATER, with columnar handles, unusually large, 20½ in. high, mended, but nothing missing in the design. There are two large figures on each side; the rest of vase is black, save for a row of rays at the base. On the obverse, Dionysus, clad in a long chiton, a himation, and a panther-skin, is moving quickly forward, holding out a drinking-horn in his right hand, and a big branch in his left. He looks back towards a satyr, who is lurching forward with a wine skin in his left hand, and his right hand raised above his head. The face of the satyr is drawn in three-quarter profile; the brow is wrinkled, and the lips parted showing the teeth. The scene is continued on the reverse of the vase: here a maenad is running with a thyrsus in one hand and a snake in the other, followed by a satyr with a thyrsus and a drinking-horn. The vase is figured by Gerhard in his Auserlesene Vasenbilder, pl. 77 (Reinach, Répertoire des vases antiques, 2, p. 45, 5-6); it was then in the possession of Basseggio at Rome. Attic work, of about 480-470 B.C. 285
- Smith (261) A hydria of "Gnathia" type, 10½ in. high, with patterns and a small figure of an old man, in white and red. Mended and retouched. 2
- Artz
 Amsterdam (262) A RED-FIGURED NECK-AMPHORA OF "NOLAN" SHAPE, 13¼ in. high, with triple handles. On the obverse, Zeus, sceptre in hand, naked save for a cloak on his shoulders, is pursuing a woman, perhaps Aegina; on the reverse is a bearded king, dressed in chiton and himation, holding a sceptre. The obverse is inscribed Kalos Glaukon, "Glaukon is beautiful." The love name Glaukon occurs on a number of vases belonging to the late archaic period; our amphora is not mentioned in the list given by Klein, Lieblingsinschriften, pp. 154-157. The vase is intact and in perfect condition; strong, excellent drawing in the ripe archaic manner. Attic, about 480 B.C. 87
- Bruun (263) A black-figured Amphora, 14½ in. high. On the obverse five men, one of whom holds a lyre; on the reverse, a man is greeting a youth, in the presence of two other men. The vase has been mended and restored; the lower parts of all the figures, and the mouth of the vase, are modern. The vase belongs to the so-called "affected" class, which is discussed by Karo in The Journal of Hellenic Studies, Volume XIX. Attic work, of about 575-550 B.C. 19
- do 264 A black-figured Neck-amphora, 16¼ in. high. Unbroken, save for the foot, which has been re-attached. On the obverse is a four-horse chariot, seen from the front, 86

with two persons in it, the driver, who wears a long white chiton, and a warrior with a crested helmet. On the reverse is a picture of a warrior leaving home: in the middle stands the warrior, wearing greaves and helmet and carrying a spear and a shield emblazoned with a human leg; behind the warrior is an archer dressed in Oriental costume, with a quiver slung from his shoulder; facing the warrior stands an old man with white hair, dressed in a himation, and holding a stick in his hand, perhaps the father of the warrior; at the handles are palmette designs, and there is a graffito underneath the foot of the vase. Attic work of about 540-520 B.C.

- 2 2 (265) A broad bottle-shaped Vase of curious form, 6in. high, with two string holes bored in the neck; the body is decorated with two rows of animals, with filling ornaments, in the black-figured technique and the Corinthian manner. Also a low disc-like Stand, 6in. in diameter, with three tiny feet; the disc is rifled above and below, the sides and feet decorated with geometric patterns. Both Greek work of the Seventh Century B.C. 2 Spunk

- 1 5 266 An Oinochoe, 8in. high, with a red polished surface decorated with concentric circles. Intact. Cypriot work of about the Fifth Century B.C. do

A black Kantharos, 9in. high, mended. Greek work (Boeotian ?) of about the Fifth Century B.C. 2

- 5 267 A white Lekythos, 7½in. high, with the design in lustrous varnish, a youth in a himation leaning on his stick and holding a flower, between two pairs of palmettes. Mended. Attic, about 480 B.C. Day

- 5 10 268 A white Lekythos, 12½in. high, with decoration in lustreless paint: a woman and a youth visiting the tomb; the design is in red outline, with red for the hair and the youth's chlamys, and dark grey for the woman's dress. The foot is restored, and the mouth does not belong to the vase, but the design is well preserved. Attic work of about 430 B.C. Garabed

Also an Alabastron of alabaster, 5½in. high. The mouth chipped. Greek work 2

- 1 12 269 An Aryballos in the form of three cockle-shells, 3in. across, painted white with red and black details. The mouth is missing. Italo-Greek work of the Fourth Century B.C. Spunk

Also a small perfume-vase with the body in the shape of an almond, 3¾in. high. One handle restored. Attic work of the late Fifth Century B.C. 2

- Burns* 270 A large Column-krater, 18 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. high; on the obverse a woman holding a tray and a wreath, seated between two youths wearing short belted chitons and high caps and carrying spears; on the reverse, three youths with sticks. Intact. Italo-Greek (Lucanian) work of the Fourth Century B.C. 32
- Calebodgian* 271 A wood Ushabti Figure with a ten-line inscription; 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. high, on wood plinth 4 15

LOT 333.

The Property of the late Hon. Mrs. Marwell Scott, of Abbotsford.

SOLD BY ORDER OF THE EXECUTOR.

333 AN ANCIENT CELTIC BRONZE ORNAMENT, found in 305
 a morass on the Farm of Torrs, in the Parish of Kelton, Galloway, Scotland, about the year 1820. It was presented to Sir Walter Scott by Mr. Joseph Train of Castle-Douglas, who lived close to the place where it was found, and in the same parish.

G. Day

It consists of a convex plate of thin bronze shaped as a demi-champfrein, with two projecting tapering horns curved upwards and terminating in double-lobed extremities, similar to that of a spoon-bill duck's head and beak. One of these horns has been broken off short of the end. The base is cut off square across, the top arched, the left side of the top being imperfect. Just below the middle on each side are large circular holes for the eyes; the spaces around them are filled with repoussé curvilinear scroll-work of graduated lines and ornamental lobes in high relief of Celtic design. Attached to the main structure are small overlaid ornaments of varied patterns, and up the sides are strengthening bands with milled edging. The horns bear indented designs of curvilinear lines and scrolls of similar character; 10in.
 high by 6in. across the back, on wood stand with brass plate and inscription.

The purpose of this curious Celtic relic is not actually known. It has been suggested that it was the mask of a mummer of the neighbouring Castle of Threave, but the shape is far more suggestive of a demi-champfrein for one of the small Galloway ponies, than for a man's headdress. Should this be the case, it would put the use of a frontal for heads of animals back to a much greater antiquity than is commonly accepted by armour experts, since this specimen cannot be of much later date than about 100 B.C.

A full description with plates, illustrating this relic, is to be found in the Proceedings of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland, Vol. VII, 1867-68.
